

Contributors

MANISHA BHATTACHARYA is a doctoral scholar in the Department of English at Presidency University, Kolkata. She holds an M.A. in English Literature from the University of Calcutta. Her interest lies in the broad area of Victorian literature, and literature of nineteenth-century colonial Bengal particularly the novels and the journals of these periods. Her interests also include Gender Studies, Feminist Writings and Indian Writing in English.
manishabhr.bhattacharya@gmail.com

SULAGNA CHATTOPADHYAY is Assistant Professor of English at Loreto College, Kolkata. She earned her M.A., M.Phil and doctoral degrees from the Department of English, Jadavpur University. Her research interests include science fiction, utopian studies, gender studies, women's writing, nineteenth-century literature, postmodernism, and the environmental humanities.
chattopadhyay.sulagna27@gmail.com

SURABHI JHA is an ICSSR Postdoctoral Researcher at Aliah University, West Bengal, India. Her research interests include Holocaust Studies, Gender Studies, and Dalit literature. In addition to her scholarly work, she is also a translator. Her monograph, Repression and Resistance: A Feminist Interpretation of Select Holocaust Novels, was published by Peter Lang, Switzerland, in December 2025.
surabhi453@gmail.com

DIPTARKAN BHATTACHARYA is an Independent Research Scholar in English. He holds an M.A. in English from The Sanskrit

College and University. His areas of interest are American Literature, Postcolonial Studies, Film Studies, Modern European Drama and Posthumanism.
diptarkan777@gmail.com

MELANIE ALEXANDER is a doctoral candidate at Vellore Institute of Technology (VIT), Chennai. She earned her M.A. degree from Loreto College, Kolkata. Her research interests lie in Queer theory and representations of gender and sexuality in popular literature, contemporary horror studies, media studies and eco-criticism.
melanieadelaide2017@gmail.com

AISHWARYA BHUTORIA is an Assistant Professor (CFT) in the Department of English, Shri Shikshayatan College, Kolkata. She completed her Post-graduation from the Department of English, St. Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata. Her areas of interest are Vulnerability Studies and Memory Studies.
aishwaryabhutoria90524@gmail.com

PREM ALEAN BAG is an independent scholar who has majored in English Literature and is deeply passionate about the subject. He is interested in Fantasy Literature, Women's Writing and Philosophy.
aleanprem6@gmail.com

SRIJANI DUTTA is an independent researcher and an admin executive at Techno India University. Her areas of interest are film, theatre, women's writings, visual arts, Modernism and Postcolonial literature.
srijanidutta081@gmail.com

SANGYA PAL is a third year student pursuing a Bachelor's degree in Literature from Loreto College, Kolkata. Her areas of interest range from Early Modern History and Literature, and linguistics, to burlesque and musicals.
sangya.pal05@gmail.com

BHAIRAB BARMAN is a teacher, poet, and a researcher in the school of Liberal Arts at IIT Jodhpur. His broad areas of interest are Cinema and Cultural Studies.
bhairabbdin@gmail.com